

Site Safety Plus – ABC

Course Description

Achieving Behavioural Change (ABC) provides an understanding of how poor attitude and behaviour can affect the chance of an accident occurring in the workplace.

Who Should Attend

For the ABC Course to be successful, attendees should come from all levels within an organisation, i.e. a good mix of managers, supervisors and workers. Minimum numbers for the course to run are six, ideally this should be run as an 'in house' course and as a result we do not offer it as an open event.

Course Content

The course can be applied to any construction situation. It features the use of the point of work 'dynamic' assessment STAARR (Stop, Think, Assess, Act, Report and Review) and TASK (Think first, Act safe, Stop if hazardous and Keep safe) card. It encourages participants to capture and apply the '9Cs' (Communication and Consultation enables Co-operation, Co-ordination, Collaboration, Control and Competence, establishing a Culture and Commitment at all levels). The course materials include a PowerPoint presentation; eight separate exercises (some of which use film clips), and an end-of-course test. The course is designed to be simple, free flowing and interactive with clear, jargon-free slides that present the main points.

Assessment & Award

The course assessment consists of nine questions incorporating a maximum of 25 answers, covering all aspects of the course. The pass mark is 15 out of 25 (60%) for Site Workforce and 20 out of 25 (80%) for Management and Supervisors'. Successful candidates will receive the ABC certificate which is valid for 5 years.
